What are the key risks that are specific to the Securities?

Most material risk factors specific to the Securities

There are risk factors which are material for the purpose of assessing the risks related to the Securities, including the following:

Risks relating to the market of the Securities

- The market value of the Securities may be adversely impacted by many events which could result in a loss of investment for the Holders.
- Trading of Securities in any secondary market may be limited and Holders may not be able to easily dispose of their Securities or to dispose of them at a price that provides a return comparable to similar products for which an active market would have developed.
- Exchange rates and exchange controls may affect the value or performance of Securities. This may also result in a significant loss on any capital invested from the perspective of a Holder whose domestic currency is not the Specified Currency.

Risks as the creditor of the Issuer

- A resolution procedure initiated at the level of the Crédit Agricole Group or any entity of the Crédit Agricole Group, or Amundi could result in a more rapid decline in the market value of the Securities.
- The exercise of any power under the BRRD or any suggestion of such exercise at the level of the Crédit Agricole Group or any entity of the Crédit Agricole Group could materially adversely affect the rights of the Holders, the price or value of their investment in the Securities and/or the ability of the Issuer, to satisfy its obligations under the Securities. As a result, Holders could lose all or a substantial part of their investment in the Securities and/or not receive the remuneration initially provided for.
- An investment in the Securities exposes the Holders to the credit of the Issuer, the Holders do not benefit from any protection or guarantee of the capital invested in connection with their investment in the Securities.
- Return on the Securities may be limited or delayed by the insolvency of the Issuer. The commencement of insolvency proceedings against the Issuer could have a material adverse effect on the market value of Securities issued. Any decisions taken by a class of affected parties could significantly impact the Holders of Securities and cause them to lose all or part of their investment, should they not be able to recover all or part of the amounts due to them from the Issuer.
- Absence of gross-up provisions under the Securities. The Issuer shall not be obliged to make any increased payment to compensate for any withholding or deduction relating to any Securities. Holders may receive less than the full amount due, and the market value of such Securities will be adversely affected. As a result, Holders could lose part of their investment in the Securities.
- Absence of negative pledge: As a result of the absence of negative pledge, Holders of the Securities will not benefit from protection regarding the status of the Securities or assets to support the Securities, bear more credit risk than secured creditors of the Issuer and may lose all or part of their investment in the Securities.

Risks relating to the structure of a particular issue of Securities

Reform and regulation of "benchmarks" may adversely affect the value of Securities linked to or referencing such "benchmarks". The discontinuation of, or a prohibition of the use of EURIBOR or any other benchmark could have an adverse effect on the value of Securities referencing such benchmarks and could lead to changes to the Terms and Conditions of such Securities. The market continues to develop in relation to risk free rates (including overnight rates) as reference rates for Floating Rate Securities, which could affect liquidity, increase volatility or could otherwise affect the market value of the Securities.

Risks relating to Certificates:

There are no events of default under the Certificates. Accordingly, if the Issuer fails to meet any obligations under the Securities, (or bankruptcy proceedings are instituted), Holders will not be able to accelerate the payment of principal. Upon a payment default, the sole remedy available to Holders of such Securities for recovery of amounts owing in respect of any payment of principal on such Securities will be the institution of proceedings to enforce such payment, which could be time-consuming and costly. This could result in significant delays in the payment of principal and could have a material adverse effect on the Holders seeking repayment. As a result, Holders could lose all or part of their investment in the Certificates.

No collective organisation of Holders, as each Certificate constitutes a separate claim and not form a Series. Holders of Certificates are not grouped into a masse or collective body with a view to protecting their interests. As a consequence, their interests may not be well represented and protected, which could have an adverse effect on the market value of the Certificates and could result in the Holders of Certificates losing part of their investment in the Certificates.

Risks relating to the relevant underlying of the Securities

Certain Factors may affect the value and the trading price of the Securities: price or value of the Underlying Reference, volatility of the Underlying Reference, dividends and other distributions, rate of interest, remaining time. As a result of all of these factors, any Holder who sells the Securities prior to the stated Maturity Date may receive an amount in the secondary market which may therefore be significantly less than the intrinsic market value of the Securities and which may also be less than the amount that the Holder would have received if the Holder had retained the Securities until the Maturity Date.

The market price of Index Linked Securities may be volatile and may depend on the time remaining to the redemption date and the volatility of the level of the index. The level of the index may be affected by the economic, financial and political events in one or more jurisdictions, including but not limited to the stock exchange(s) or quotation system(s) on which any securities comprising the index may be traded. Holders are exposed to the risk that changes in the level of the index may adversely affect in a negative way the amounts of interest, early redemption or final redemption, if any, as well as the value of Index Linked Securities and as a result, could lose all or part of their investment.

Risk factors relating to specific features

Floors: Formula or other basis for determining the performance of the Underlying Reference in relation to a Series of Securities may, alternatively or additionally be subject to a minimum value, or floor, so that any performance of the Underlying Reference below the applicable floor will not be taken into account for the purposes of the relevant determination. Amounts payable on the Securities linked to such floored performance will be limited and restricted accordingly. This could impact the value of the Securities.
